DESTRUCTION BY A CYCLONE IN IOWA.

Large Fire at Point Breeze--An Oil Factory Destroyed--Shipping on the Schuylkill in Flames.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, June 11.—A terrific wind storm passed over this city Monday night, causing great damage. A number of buildings were unroofed, principal among which are the Baptist Church, Third ward school house; and the Walters block on Eighth street. The greatest damage was done in the lumber yards where piles of lumber was caught up and scattered in all directions. Ingram, Kennedy & Day lost $10,000 worth of logs which broke from their moorings and went down the river. Telegraphic communication is entirely cut off, not a single wire being left, and communication was not established until late in the night. But one life lost as far as known, that of a small boy upset in a boat. The storm was confined to a very narrow limit. Railroad communication was not interrupted.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—About 11 o'clock this morning lightning struck the large warehouse and oil works of Warden, Frew & Company, at Point Breeze; the entire building was soon in flames. The fire spread so rapidly that the whole neighborhood is in danger of being consumed. It spread to the dwelling house fronting the works, and to shipping in Schuylkill river, and is now burning fiercely. Owing to the distance from the city proper, and the telegraph office being burned no definite information of the progress of the fire can be obtained. The latest dispatch says that seven vessels are now burning and that many others are in imminent danger.

At Conshohocken last night the mill of John Wood, Jr., was also struck by lightning and burned, entailing a loss of over $125,000; insurance $50,000.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 11th.—SENATE—The Senate resumed consideration of the McDonald bill to authorize the use of troops in certain cases and to repeal election laws. Senator Hill began speaking on the McDonald military bill at 12:35, saying he intended to reply to personal allusions but not to retaliate nor to make a personal attack on any senator. The Senator showed that his vote in the Georgia convention was against secession, but the secession resolution was adopted by the convention, and after that it was only a question of whether citizens of the State should uphold its solemn action in the convention. He there signed the ordinance of secession after its passage, as did all his colleagues, though one-third of the members voted with him against it.

HOUSE.—Mr. Stephens, from Coinage Committe, reported the bill for the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures and coinage. Printed and recommitted. Mr. Carlisle, from Committee on Ways and Means reported the Senate bill allowing vinegar factories which were established and operated before the first of March, 1879, to continue their business by use of alcoholic vapor even when within six hundred feet of a distillery or rectifying House, prohibited by the existing law, under regulations to be prescribed. The bill was passed. Mr. Carlisle also reported a bill directing the Attorney General to adjust or compromise the claim of the United States' under the will of Joseph L. Lewis. Passed. [This is a case in which Lewis, formerly of Hoboken, N. J., left an estate of about a million of dollars to be applied to the reduction of the national debt.]

Proctor Knott's Report on the Veto Messages.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Proctor Knott, of the House Judiciary Committee, submitted to the House to-day the Committee's report upon the Presidential message vetoing House bill No. 1,382, known as the "Military Interference bill." The document is six or seven hundred words in length, and takes up and examines in detail all the objections made by the President to the bill in question. It begins by stating that the danger to be apprehended from the presence of troops at the polls is sufficiently apparent and has been repeatedly pointed out. As long ago as 1863 Congress found it necessary to pass a bill to obviate it by strictly prohibiting military interence with elections except upon call of a State or to keep peace at polls. That bill was approved by President Lincoln and is now in force as sections 2,002 and 5,528 revised statutes. The words "keep peace at the polls" were not in the organized draft of the bill, but were added in the Senate against the remonstrance of the majority of its supporters, who feared they would be misconstrued and used as a pretext to evade with impunity the penalties prescribed. To remove that pretext and prevent a recurrence of the practices already shown to be dangerous, the present Congress in making appriations for support of the army struck out the words in question. The President thereupon returned the bill without signatures because in his opinion first, it was unnecessary; second it would prevent civil officers from using civil force to keep peace at the polls, and third, the method of repealing the clause in question was not in harmony with Executive taste. The first two objections the Committee, for the present, passes without remark. With regard to the third the report says the manner of repeal was in strict conformity to the Constitution and rules of the House, and justified by numerous precedents in the annals of Federal legislation.

Roanoke College.

SALEM, Va., June 11.—At the annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Roanoke College, Reverend W. E. Hubbert, of Virginia, was elected president, and Reverend L. A. Mann, of Maryland, orator for the next year. The Association resolved to raise an endowment fund of $25,000, and a committee was appointed to solicit contributions and to have the Association incorporated. Commencement passed off successfully.

The English Turf.

LONDON, June 11.—The race for the Royal Hunt Cup at Ascott meeting today was won by "The Mandarin."

General Ord has at his headquarters in San Antonio, Texas, the marble-topped table on which General Lee write the famous capitulation of the Confederate armies.

The Russian revolutionists coined a copper medal "for the perpetual remembrance of April 2 (14), 1879"—the day on which Solovieff made his attempt upon the Czar's life. The medal exhibits on one side a bust of the Czar, against whom a revolver is directed, and bears the inscription, "Down with autocracy," On the reverse side is the conventional figure of liberty, who is handing bread and salt to a group of Russian peasant-folk. The inscription runs: "For liberty and the people." The oddest thing is that the medal was distributed for a whole day among the lower order of police, who are seldom able to read. They were informed that it was struck in commemoration of the deliverance of the Emperor from the hand of the assassin.

THE COMMENCEMENTS.

Closing Exercises at Peace--Senator Ransom at Wake Forest.

Correspondence of the News.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, June 11.—There was an unusually large number in attendance at the Commencement exercises at Wake Forest to-day. The new building was thrown open and the rooms appropriated for recitations and lectures are well as those for the library are peculiarly fitted for their purpose We were informed there are ready to go in the library some ten thousand volumes. The halls for the use of the two societies, are beautifully furnished and present a most attractive appearance.

At quarter to eleven the two societies formed in line and, headed by the Salem Brass Band, proceeded to the residence of Professor Simmons for the Hon. M. W. Ransom, the orator of the day. The chapel was densely packed, and greeted with loud applause at the appearance of Senator Ransom, who came forward, accompanied by Colonel Cook, of Franklin county, who said he had the pleasure of presenting, not introducing Senator Ransom to the assemblage, for he needed no introduction to a North Carolina audience. The gifted speaker then came forward and for an hour and a half held his audience spell bound by his matchless eloquence. He said in opening that he had been so occupied with matters of state and was so lately from the dust and excitement of the great political strife now going on at the capitol of the nation, that he had not time to prepare such an effort as he wished to make on this interesting occasion. That he was the only member of Congress who had fulfilled a literary engagement this season. Senator Thurman had promised to deliver the address at Chapel Hill, but his duty prevented. He was not prepared, but he had come to show his appreciation of their invitation and deep interest in them—that he wished to impress on them their duty as Southern young men who were soon to take the places of himself and others, both in church and state. He was here to-day to urge them to do their duty; that if the educated young men of the South would do their duty he had no fears for the destiny of the South and her ultimate success and supremacy over the North. He urged the South to see that not only her white but also her colored population were educated. He eloquently alluded to the fact that ten years ago he had urged the strewing of flowers over the graves of the brave Union as well as the Confederate soldier, and reiterated that advice, as no power could ever induce him to dishonor the graves of the brave dead, under whatever flag they may have fallen, and he denounced with withering eloquence the utterances of Schuyler Hamilton, on memorial day at the base of Lincoln monument. The whole address was eloquent, abounding in most appropriate and beautiful classical illustration, and was well conceived, delivered and must result in good to those who heard it. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Hatch, of Richmond.

At 3½ o'clock there was a meeting of the Alumni. We noticed on the platform to-day the following visiting gentlemen:

To-day the graduating speeches will be delivered and the diplomas awarded. Also appropriate ceremonies of laying the corner-stone of the new building. it is very gratifying to see the increasing success of this important institution of learning, which is so rapidly increasing in its importance and influence.

SPECTATOR.

The commencement exercises at the far famed Peace have been unusually interesting this year. Three nights have been well spent in illustrating the different branches of education at this Institute. The most attractive of these was the concert last night.

At one time fears were entertained that Professor Baumann would be unable to preside over the music. He has been quite ill for the past week and he took his accustomed place as di ector when really his strength would not admit of it. He was, however, saved unnecessary fatigue, for there were no errors made by any of the performers. It cannot be truly stated that Professor Baumann is not one of the first instructors in music. By unremitting attention to and constant zeal for the musical training of his pupils he has achieved success in his profession, and when that is said there remains nothing left to say.

The "temple of music" in the Institute is always over crowded; the company is always the most refined and intelligent in the city, and the appreciation of the music is always well defined by the marked attention given to the performances from the beginning to the close.

La Parisienne was so well illustrated on the piano by Miss Addie Williams that it is impossible to refrain from compliment; her elocution is brilliant and her touch beautiful.

Miss Marsh performed Le Reveille Du Lion the next piano solo; she is a talented musician, memorizes well, has splendid command of the instrument and at times her excution is grand.

Miss Rumple forms a trio with Miss Williams and Miss Marsh and was selected for the last piano solo. It is quite difficult for one to distinguish which of these young ladies plays the best, each has her admirers, and they are so devoted to their favorite that it would be impossible to prove the superiority, if indeed there be any, of either of the fair musicians. Miss Rumple favored the audience with a splendid interpolation of Gottschalk's "God Save the Queen," which was enthusiastically recognized.

In the vocal music the contest lay between Miss Nannie Burwell and Miss Nora Phillips. Miss Burwell sang the "Lost Birdling" in a charming manner, and her rare, sweet voice never appeared to better advantage. Miss Phillips was favored with the last solo of the evening. Her voice is rich and melodious, her execution brilliant and her trills well sustained. She succeeded well in demonstrating the beautiful and intricate melodies of "The Carnival of Venice."

The whole entertainment was a succession of brilliant surprises, and left room for nothing but praises from those present.

A beautiful bouquet was presented to Prof. Baumann during the concert as a tribute of regard from his admirers in the audience.

THE ENGINEER'S MISSILE.

NARROW ESCAPE OF FORREST, THE ACTOR.

The Famous Tragedian's Narrow Escape from a Locomotive--An Engineer's Expedient.

A little steamer was passing Riverdale. Above the foliage on the hillside stands two buildings, one of gray stone, which looks like a castle, the other standing in the background, an oblong red brick structure. The former was Edwin Forrest's Castle, the latter is Mount St. Vincent Seminary. It was to these buildings that the old conductor called the attention of the group assembled on deck. "You will remember," he said, "that it was in this castle that Forrest sought rest and relaxation in his own peculiar way. It was his abode in the summer months, and his favorite exercise while at the castle was horseback-riding. He was accustomed, so he informed me, to rise at 5 o'clock every morning from late in the spring till early in the fall, to bathe in the Hudson, which he did in this curious manner. He would divest himself of all clothing save a pair of tights, and mounting one of the most powerful horses, plunge into the river, ride up and down, sometimes going nearly across the river, and would continue the feat until the horse became exhausted."

"Many a chilly morning in October, when I was in charge of an early train, the attention of my passengers would be attracted by this novel sight."

"It was in fall of '50," he continued, after a pause, "when Forrest nearly met his death. He was then to attempt a new role in the old Bowery Theater. I have forgotten the role and the name of the play, but he told me that he had had spent much time in its study. During the earlier hours of the day, it was his habit to stroll over the castle grounds absorbed in study of this new character. At 11 o'clock he would board my train and go to the city for rehearsal. He would frequently ride on the engine with Bill Jennings, a tall, stalwart fellow, who had seen much life on the plains. Forrest exhibited considerable interest in the workings of the engine, which pleased Bill greatly.

"At last came the day on which Forrest was announced to appear at the Bowery Theater. I had intended to see him that night in his new role. Our train had been delayed some time up the river, waiting for the express going north, to pass. We were fifteen minutes behind time at Riverdale. Forrest, who always waited on the platform, was nowhere to be seen. I was impatient to be off, and asked Bill to blow the whistle and ring the bell fiercely. He did so. Still Forrest did not show up. He may have remained in the city last night, or gone down on an earlier train, I thought. However, I became uneasy, but the train must go ahead, and at last I shouted, 'All aboard.' We were obliged to make up lost time in going down to the depot, and we had gone along probably a half mile when a furious signal of down brakes was given. I went to the forward car and saw the brakemen put on the brakes. I looked down the track for the cause, and with a thrill of horror saw a man on it. With head bowed down and hands clasped behind his back, he was plunged in deep thought. I was sure it was Forrest. He was walking on the down track unconscious of danger. The signal did not arouse him. The train would surely reach him, and America's great actor would be a mangled mass in a twinkling. The thoughts of the sorrow that would be expressed by the people, and the actors, rushed through my now quickened brain.

"It was then I saw Bill, the engineer, clutch a huge billet of wood in his right hand, and go out on the fender of the engine. He threw it with all his strength straight at Forrest's head. It struck him full on the right side, knocking him down, and off the track just as the train rushed by. I thought he was struck by the train, which stopped about a hundred yards below the spot where Mr. Forrest stood at the time when he was struck by the billet of wood. The late Moses H. Grinnell, who had witnessed a part of the above scene from a rear car, was one of the first to jump off. We all expected to find Forrest's mangled body on the track where he was struck by the billet of wood. Instead, the great tragedian was sitting with his back against a telegraph pole, coolly tugging away at a damaged boot."

"Are you hurt much, Ned?" Mr. Grinnell anxiously inquired.

"Not as much as this boot is," he answered, with an effort at a smile.

The cow-catcher had torn the sole off his boot and injured his foot slightly.

"What were you doing on the track, and such a distance from the depot?" asked.

"I became impatient over the train's delay," he replied, "I thought of walking down the track. It is better walking on the track than the side road. My impatience made me nervous, and I thought to work it off by walking. I fell into deep thought and unconsciously walked along. Had I been left alone I would have walked into the city. I did not hear any signals, nor know of my danger until I found myself rolling on the ground. I could not conceive even then what was the matter, When I found that Forrest was not seriously injured I again shouted, "All aboard," and the train started on its way to the city. After reaching the depot Forrest found out Bill, the engineer, and thanked him kindly for saving his life. He remembered Bill, substantially, afterward. Bill and I saw Forrest in the theater that night. He was applauded after every act, and we were among those who applauded the loudest."

A Deodorizer.

Wilmington Star.

Dr. D. M. Buie, of this city, has invented a deodorizer for which is claimed virtues of a decidedly important character, and which would prove especially useful in places subject to visitations from yellow fever and other infectious diseases, as well as a disinfectant for ships. It is said that it will arrest decomposition or decay in any organic substance, either of animal or vegetable origin. It has been tested on a sturgeon's head and found to work like a charm. Even bilge water, it is claimed, can be rendered perfectly sweet and wholesome by its use. If it is all that it is claimed to be—and this fact can be tested in a few minutes, the inventor states—it will prove a valuable auxiliary to the boards of health in our Southern cities during the summer months. At any rate, it is worth a trial.

Misser Chandler's Position.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Will you actively support Foster?" he was asked.

"Of course I will," he replied. Foster has shown fruits meet for repentance. He is now on the stool of repentance, and I believe in saving sinners.

Mr. Chandler was then asked if his attitude now was consistent with his declaration some time ago.

"Entirely so," said he. "I have not gone to the Aministration. I stand upon the ground I always stood upon. The Administration has got to my way of thinking, and, as it is now on my platform, I indorse it."

WANTS A SOUTHERN ORATOR.

What a Clergyman Thinks of our Proposition.

Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

I have liked your recent utterances on Southern matters. I feel just as certain that the great body of the Southern people are loyal to our government, and have no thought of rebellion, as I do that I am acquainted with my neighbors. I believe, too, that they are disposed to treat the colored people fairly. When the blacks are abused I am glad there is an exodus till the whites, who need them, learn to protect them. I believe General Armstrong's recent letter is the exact truth, and I am glad he has written it. I believe the revival of sectional hate which the politician seems to have instigated is a madness, pestilent and wicked.

I like your suggestions of a Southern man for orator for the Fourth of July. I should like to hear Governor Vance. I once heard him give a lecture on the mountains of South Carolina, among which he was born, and I have ever remembered it as one of the pleasantest hours of my life. I have heard him on other themes. He is a very brilliant man. I believe as Governor of North Carolina he has sought the good of all the people. He is the idol of his native State, and the invitation to him or some such man to come to Springfield would, I believe, in the present state of affairs do good.

HENRY B. BLAKE.
West Springfield, June 6, 1879.

Poll-Parrot Knowledge.

The New York Herald thinks that a society for the "Suppression of Useless Knowledge" should be organized, in order to procure the elimination from our courses of study "of more than half the branches which are now taught therein." The Herald is rightly of the opinion that pupils are distracted by the multiplicity of tasks which must be committed to memory, the strain upon their faculties weakening them mentally and physically, and it adds, with great good sense, that "the great want of our children under seven years of age is to be let alone, and not troubled with facts and maxims to be remembered. We must change our ideas in respect to education, and recognize that a healthy, hearty boy or girl of eight or nine years, who is an adept at all the sports of childhood, is far better educated than the infant prodigy who knows the boundaries and capitals of every country in the world, but cares nothing for the ball or hoop." The Philadelphia Record quotes these words with approval, and hopes that the Herald will undertake to promote reform in the directions indicated, contending that "it is a generally admitted fact the so-called education of to-day is a process of abnormally developing the memory to the neglect and injury of every other faculty of the mind." All which is too true to be gainsayed.

Rat Catching Extraordinary.

San Francisco News Letter.

The other day Mr. Mike Maloney, who, we need hardly say, being a workingman, is a gentleman of elegant Milesian leisure, concluded to earn an honest penny by catching rats for Jake Snyder, Esq.'s great rat hunt next week. He accordingly scattered some cheese around in the cellar of Doolegan's saloon, and when a sufficient time had elapsed, rushed in, stopped up the holes of exit, and began transferring the squeaking rodents to an empty barrel previously provided. The first rat Mike seized with his tongs was a large gray fellow, which he speedily slipped into the barrel, quickly covering the top again with a cloth. In a few minutes he caught another and another. The rats were all large, game-looking fellows, and after snaking them out from behind the boxes and corners for some hours, Mike concluded that he must have about a couple of hundred, and braced himself for a square lift to get the barrel on his shoulder. It was so light that in amazement the industrious man raised the cover and looked in. Instead of four or five bushels of dog bait, he saw nothing but a bung-hole he had forgotten to stop up. Mr. Maloney had been catching the same rat all day. He has now given up labor permanently in disgust, and is training to become a Sand-Lot speaker.

American Love of Music.

From Peck's Milwaukee Sun.

The Burlington Standard says "the American people are fast becoming a music-loving people." They are indeed. Only a few years ago the musical taste of our people was so low that "Shoo, Fly," was seized upon and raged all over the land, A few musical people set themselves to work to bring about a reform, and the result was "Mollie Darling." Gradually, as the public taste becomes more cultivated, a still higher order of music was offered, and from one end of the country to the other was heard, "Whoa, Emma." The last faint notes of this æsthetic production having died away, the climax of gifted song has been reached, and a nation of people who, only a few years ago, were groping in the darkness of heathen melodies, are now everywhere chanting Pinafore.

"Unbresh and Squander."

Somebody has told the joke on a militia colonel during the late war that on one occasion he drew his regiment up along a river bank to attack a Federal gunboat. The gunboat began pouring in broadsides, and knocked the sand banks all to pieces, when finding his position untenable our colonel gave the unique but effective command, "Unbank and sedge." Directly, however, the shells began falling too thickly in the sedge and he shouted "Unsedge and bresh," an order that was unanimously obeyed. Even here the fire was too hot, and the underbrush was being torn all in tatters. Unable to stand the pressure any longer, he shrieked "Unbresh and squander."

Two Paragraphs.

These men, like Phillips and Adams, who talk so glibly of "marching against rebels," and "whipping the South more severely," do not know what they are talking about. They are mad. If, through their wicked agitations, blood should be spilt, it will not be Southern blood. The battlefield will be in the North. It will not be the North against the South, it will be Republican soldiers fighting Democratic soldiers. It will not be a sectional war, it will be neighbor against neighbor, and brother against brother.—New Haven Register.

The blue and the gray! And why should they not be blended? The other day, when the resident British subjects sat down to a banquet in honor of their sovereign, the table was charmingly arranged with flowers, and the red rose of Lancaster and the white rose of York were entwined. Who that has read history can forget the bloody and terrible War of the Roses? But the white and the red and the red and the white were long since mingled and confounded in the hearts of Englishmen. And so it may be in the years to come that the American Union will be the stronger by reason of the blending of the blue and the gray.—New Orleans Times.

A BAG OF MONEY.

HOW THE CONTENTS OF THE SATCHEL WERE APPLIED.

A Running Commentary on the Court at Charlotte, The Armfield Bill, and "Jeduthun Jeems."

Correspondence of the News.

CHARLOTTE, June 10.—The "future London" is quite full of strangers, many are on their way to Davidson College to participate in the Commencement festivities on Wednesday and Thursday. Colonel Duncan V. McRae is among the number, whither he goes to deliver his racy lecture on "Laughter." We had not seen him for a number of years but readily recognized him; though somewhat older and thinner-looking, we soon noticed the fire in his eye which seems to burn as brightly as ever. He delivers his lecture here on his return.

THIS IS FEDERAL COURT WEEK.

Judge Bob Dick, his son-in-law Bob Douglas, the Marshal, together with several deputy marshals, came in on the 12:20 train from Greensboro last night and took up their quarters at the Central Hotel. You will remember it was advertised there was no money and there would be no court; but a subsequent "ad" from Bob, the Marshal, in substance stated that they would have a little court, and would only use Charlotte jurors for the same—district jurors could remain at home. The impression was sought to be conveyed that the lack of "spondulix" to conduct the court was occasioned by the deviltry of those——blamed Democrats in the halls of Congress not passing the appropriation bills, when the truth is the fiscal year has not yet ended, and will not expire until the last of this month. It looks like a big excuse in the "pot" and hold off for the anticipated new appropriation. But how stands the case? it is thusly: Sitting in the rotunda of the hotel this evening, what do we see? A ponderous fellow, a "heavy weight man" so to speak, enters the hotel and and approaches the clerk's desk with an ominous looking valise; he entrusts it to him, but upon the polite and gentlemanly custodian of the office placing it rather carelessly behind the counter, this henchman, this Friday of Bob's, quickly observed.

TO GOBBLE WHAT IS LEFT

"Perhaps you don't know, sir, what that contains."

"No, sir," replied the clerk; "I have no idea."

"Well, sir," says Mr. Gretter, he once of the famous

NEW ORLEANS WASHINGTON ARTILLERY.

(by way of parenthesis some of his old comrades will recollect him should this catch their eye) quickly remarked "there is money in that sir, belonging to the marshal."

My Lord! we awoke from our reverie on hearing this, and leaning over when the clerk wished to know the amount we were startled to gain the information that the sole-leather encased something over $1,500 in Uncle Sam's promises to pay. It was placed in the safe, and we were fools enough to come to the conclusion that the amount was a sufficient sum to run a small court for six or seven days, if for no other good than to give a few poor unfortunates now lying in [illegible] the benefits of a speedy trial,—but

TO THE COURT.

His Honor looking as if he possessed all the wisdom of a dozen Solomons, attended by Son Bob and a retinue of deputies (there is about a hundred of them here including the revenue men, old Zeb's red-legged grasshoppers, God bless 'em) repaired to the county court house about 10 o'clock, and after some time expended in various ways, opened this farce of a court. The blonde Luske, the attorney of the United States, was on hand, also. Cowles, the clerk, assisted by about a dozen little Cowles, the sons of old man Daddy Cowles, he of Constitutional Convention memory, though not all in the same capacity but occupying many of the different positions so lustily created by their god-father in Raleigh, were as bright as spring robins. The "gang" in toto looked supremely happy. No work; short court; more cost piled upon poor devils; prospect of getting some of that fifteen hundred.

A VENIRE OF 18 JURORS PETIT

had been summoned, their names were called over; nothing more with them, all white, narry negro. The docket was called over and everything carried forward, not without a huge settlement of former costs. The jury was discharged, and to-morrow the curtain drops and thus ends attempt at a court in this city by Judge Bob, Son Bob and their disciples. Complete abortion!

BILLS OF INFORMATION, NO INDICTMENTS.

In conversing with quite a prominent lawyer from the central section of the State we were amazed to learn what a star chamber existed in our midst, and to what extent the liberty of its citizens were subjected to by the caprice or malice of one of these district attorneys, or instigated by others. Under the present law it seems that any one can be arrested upon a written complaint, or "bill of information" as it is styled, tried before a judge without jury and sentenced to Albany prison with no redress save habeas corpus, when two to one, the new Jeffries to whom you apply will hold the same opinion as the sentencing judge.

CONGRESSMAN ARMFIELD

has, we learn, introduced a bill in the House to repeal this iniquitous statute, and in the name of liberty every freeman should wish for its early passage.

Among the incidents of the court was one of these information bills (rather, infernal) binding a poor farmer from Union county over in a $500 bond for selling one plug of tobacco. He was a witness against a counterfeiter who informed. The statute states that it must be made by a deputy marshal. No matter, the former was jailed all the same, and only able to give bail to-day. Poor fellow—but then the grasshoppers and the gang must snatch up all inconsiderate trifles in the way of costs.

It is a great pity that Honorable Alf. Waddell's bill (while in Congress) did not meet with more sympathy. This western Augean stable, from what I can learn on all sides, is rotten to the core and needs purifying in an eminent degree.

What we need is another Judge Brooks, a good and faithful man, and moreover an honest one, and if we can't have one like him, why, exhaust the judiciary and bust the "Bobs"—daddy and son.

THE OLD MAN OF MT. GILEAD.

Who in the thunder wrote that piece, June 1st, in your daily, headed "Military Agriculture?" He shoots hot shot —that fellow does—whoever he may be. It was cruel to speak of Dr. Benbow in the way he did; and oh! my, how he did send the grape and canister at Col. Dumont, one of our new citizens, the State's editor of "Dot Leetle Dutch Buk." Old-time folks up here want to know who he is. For God's sake send us a book by Captains Pride Jones, Coley, or old man Jordan, if you can get hold of one; if you can't, tell us his name.

Several parties are negotiating for clay hill plantations to sell the Zulus for their ostrich farms.

A CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

you probably have noticed, took place on the Western North Carolina Railroad to-day, also on the road from this city to Statesville where it makes connection with the former. Sleeping cars will be run from Salisbury to the terminus of the line, and the staging over the mountain will be in daylight. A word about the sleepers: we doubt whether they will pay. You know most of our folks are tarnal poor, and nearly every cuss that wends his way mountainward moves on the cheap plan, and long before he snuffs the gentle, balmy, soul-invigorating breezes, he commences to inquire, "Whar is a good, nice place, cheap, to board?" Now mind you, these old roosters, young pullets and small ducks can't pay five or six dollars for a section of a sleeper, or rather they "ain't gwine to do it." The new schedule makes it incumbent on Wilmington people to lay over a day here coming this way.

Good-night. OLD RATTLEBOX.

STATE NEWS.

Granville.

Oxford Torchlight.

The closing exercises of River Bank Academy will take place next Friday.

Twenty-five hundred dollars were added to the railroad subscription last week.

The shovels, spades, wheel-barrows and all necessary railroad tools will be here in a few days. Dr. Herndon is certainly pushing the railroad on to success.

His many friends in this county will be glad to learn that Mr. P. H. Turner, lately convicted of violating the revenue laws, will probably be pardoned. Hon. J. J. Davis is laboring zealously in his behalf, and has written Mrs. Turner a very consoling letter. Mr. T. has been confined in the Craven county jail since his trial.

Forsythe.

Winston Leader.

We notice in quite a number of the yards, in Salem, there are lemon bushes upon which are hanging full grown lemons.

Mr. J. Smith, of Smith Grove, informs that in building a chimney to his house some time since one or two beehives partly hid from view were used in the scaffold, and that a swarm of bees took up their abode in one of the hives, and have filled it with nice honey.

On Thursday last a negro entered Mr. R. D. Johnston's tailor shop and inquired if he had any cheese. The reply was that he had not, but instructed him to go up higher. There was a ladder near by, which is used in raising the sky-lights, and bless your heart that negro ascended that ladder and got out on the roof of the house, hunting for cheese.

What He Wanted to Do.

"Have you got charge of this here inclosure?" inquired a seedy looking individual of a park policeman a day or so ago.

"O' course I have."

"Get paid pretty well, eh?"

"Rather," replied the man in gray, as he got off a pace or so.

"Now, I'm glad to hear it; I'm glad to hear it, and I'm sincere in all my remarks. I hope you get $5,000 per annum. Indeed, I do."

"I don't get half that, sir," replied the policeman, pleasantly.

"Well, I declare, it's too bad, anyhow. It almost makes me weep when I think of the low salaries that are being paid in these days."

The policeman agreed with him that it didn't seem exactly right that such paltry pay should be given to persons holding important positions, and was turning on his heel to move off, when the sympathetic man called him back, and remarked:

"I'd like to ask a favor of you."

"What is it, sir?"

"I'd like to lie on that settee for a little while."

"I can't let you sleep on the seats; it's against the rules."

"I don't want to go to sleep; I only want to lie down and look up at the sky and think."

"I can't permit it," said the policeman as affectionately as possible.

"Will you let me go over and sit on the fountain and gaze into its diaphonous depths in which the gold fish disporteth itself in airy revelry?"

"It's against the rules."

"I'd like to step over there and sit under that breezy tree. I don't want to sleep, I don't want to rest, I ——"

"What do you want to do?"

"I want to write a sonnet on Michael Angelo, and I thought if you would only permit me to recline in the breezy solitudes which linger under that tree, I could get sufficient ideas to give Mike a complimentary notice. May I take a crack at the shade of that tree?"

"No, sir!"

"All right; that settles it. I'll go somewhere else. Any policeman who won't let a man sit under a paltry tree to celebrate in song the virtues and genius of one of the greatest men the world ever produced, ain't fit to live. I wouldn't sit under your blamed tree now if you invite me—no, I wouldn't. You can keep your tree, and go to thunder with it, if you like!"

And then the poet started off in the direction of a place with a representation of a mammoth schooner in front of it.

A Titusville correspondent of the Bradford (Pa.) Era says it is stated on good authority there that proceedings are now under way at that point for organizing a through pipe line to the sea.

The Shenandoah (Pa.) Herald, which was at one time a Greenback organ, says there is no use in longer trying to disguise the fact that better times have come to the coal regions, and that the large shipments of coal from there are exerting an excellent influence upon business.

SNAKES IN DROVES.

TWENTY FEET LONG AND AS THICK AS A BOOT-LEG.

Three Snakes Acting as a Burial Party for a Deceased Comrade--A Tar River Story.

Oxford Torchlight.

FRANKLINTON, June 6.—About one mile and a half from the railroad bridge spanning Tar river, is the residence of Junius W. Hight, who not long since married a Miss Cash. Everything went on lovely until warm weather set in and the snakes began to show themselves about his house and yard in gangs and droves. The first time that he took fright was after killing one about ten feet long, which he hung upon the fence and dragged it under the house to a hole beneath the hearthstone. He then began to watch and a day so thereafter he saw them crawling around lazily from six to eight to ten in a gang. Things now began to look serious and Hight left the next day for Kittrells to get ammunition to begin war upon them, but while he was gone a couple of ladies called on his wife, and while she was regaling them with snaky information one of the trio happend to look toward the east door, when lo! what

A MONSTER MET HER GAZE.

A scream brought the party to their feet. The monster's head appeared to be about three feet high, four feet of its body was on the floor and its tail was just clearing the corner of the house. The ladies ran as fast as they could, but the snake dashed right by the hindmost ones and took after Hight's wife, and she being very fleet, finally escaped it. Mr. Hight saw one in the path the other day twenty feet long, as large as a "man's boot leg," mouth open and looking

AS RED INSIDE AS A BALL OF FIRE.

His dog was running a rabbit at the time and approaching rapidly in the direction of the snake. He hastened to his house to get his shot gun to shoot the monster, and about the time he got there his dog quit running. He hastened back to try his artillery on the snake, but he was too late, for it was gone. He has heard nothing from his dog since, and now firmly believes that the rabbit ran in the snake's mouth, mistaking it for a hollow, and that the dog followed—consequently the snake bagged both and slid off to his quarters. They are blowing and hissing around his house all night and one while another that stays in the woods near by keeps up a bellowing at regular intervals. Hight had been putting his chickens under pots and tubs to keep them from the snakes at night, until one morning he found that a certain pot and chicken were both gone, so he straightway carried his chickens to his father-in-law's. About a week ago his wife heard such a hissing and blowing that she awoke him to get up and see what was the matter. A light showed several very large snakes writhing and squirming about on the floor. He tried his gun upon them, killing some and causing others to dash about quite hurriedly, hissing and lashing with their tails. His wife bolted for the door, declaring that she would stay no longer in a snake den, but was going to her father's house. He concluded it more prudent to follow than stay and be devoured by snakes, so he "lit out" accordingly.

MAKES A NOISE LIKE A GOBBLER,

We passed through the gentleman's yard a few evenings since, and found nobody there, and his neighbor related the above facts as the cause of his desertion of the place. It surely must be one huge snake-den all around there. He couldn't kill them with a shot gun as fast as they would spring up about his place.

A Comparison.

Richmond Whig.

The Republicans have found a text for many malicious diatribes in the fact that so large a proportion of the Congressmen from the South are those who held high military position in the Confederate service; and some Radical papers have been in the habit of comparing the prevalence of Southern brigadiers in the Senate and House of Representatives with the conspicuous absence of Northern soldiers from that body. We do not know that this particular line of attack has done any harm, for to the least thoughtful mind must be apparent the reasons why the trusted political leaders from Virginia, or Georgia, or South Carolina, for instance, must almost inevitably be men who followed the fortunes of their States in war. In the first place, it is the most natural and praiseworthy impulse of a brave and generous people to reward with civic wreaths those who upheld their honor and defended their homes in battle. There has been no Democracy in history which has not reserved the highest honors of the State for the great in war. In the next place, there is no community in the South from which the men of character, culture and position did not go forth in arms. Those who made the rare exceptions were too old or too young. We have no men of prominence in any walk of life who have not also records as soldiers. And it must be so that our representatives shall come from that class until another generation takes upon itself the burden of government. So that if any excuse were necessary, we could truthfully say we have no men of qualification for public trust who have not either worn a sword or borne a musket in the Confederate line.

But we might go further and retort upon the Republican party for its seeming ingratitude to the soldiers of the Union. To say that, for the past sixteen years, comparatively few of the Federal Generals have been elected to public office by that party, is but another way of asserting that the Republican leaders have ignored the men who fought the war and saved the country from disruption. And it is a fact that in the speeches of such exponents of Republicanism as Conger and Blaine the merit of service is contemptuously disallowed to such men as was Shields, and as are Banning and Bragg, simply because they are Democrats. And this brings us to another curious and significant fact, which cannot be too frequently referred to—that almost without exception the Federal Generals are Democrats; and it is upon the men whose valor saved the Union soldiers to the front of the Democratic ticket, and of making clearly as a Democratic issue the right of the soldiers to fix the terms of peace.

Simple Desires of Nature's Children.

Indian Jack, hanged yesterday, wanted a Chinaman to give him a drink of brandy some time ago. John refused and Jack picked up a rock and fired the heathen's soul into the Flowery Land. A few days previous to his disappearance on the gallows, Jack's spiritual adviser, after having sung and fervently prayed for the salvation of the soul of the condemned, asked him if he could do anything more for him. Answer—"yes; buy me a plug of tobacker."

DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, - - - - JUNE 12, 1879.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

THE OHIO CONVENTION.

The New York Herald, which has been running General Grant for the Presidency, in discussing the action of the Ohio Republican convention, concludes that the nomination of Mr. Foster means "that General Grant is not the preference of the Ohio Republicans as their candidate for the Presidency," and that the defeat of Judge Taft "shows how little substance there is in the Grant movement, at least in Ohio—it collapses the first time it is put to a conspicuous test." The Herald further says that Mr. Hayes "has ceased to be an impossible candidate," and that "when Mr. Hayes, in his letter of acceptance, disclaimed any intention of running for a second term if elected, he did not expect that he would hold his first term by a disputed title, and that the trial of that title would be made a leading feature of the succeeding election." "If the Democrats present this issue in the person of Mr. Tilden," says the Herald, "the Republicans could in no way so directly meet it as by confronting him a second time with the same candidate whose title is impugned."

The New York Times regards the nomination of Mr. Foster as the result of a sincere effort to secure the strongest and worthiest candidates, but declares that "from whatever standpoint we regard their action, the silence of the Ohio Republicans on the silver question is either inexplicable or discreditable. If it was the result of a timid and temporizing spirit, then it is the most fatal of blunders."

MASSACHUSETTS is ever alive to her own interests. She is brimful of sympathy for the "poor negroes," and at the commencement of the exodus was profuse with advice to them, telling them to leave their "bulldozing masters and go where there rights would be respected. But suddenly the State has experienced a change. The mill-owners and business men have found out that this wholesale emigration will have the effect of shortening the cotton crop, and result in a suspension of mill labor, as Massachusetts temporarily will not be able to compete with English manufacturers. And now the State is receding from its former position. The press says that the planters of the Mississippi valley have a clearly legal right to the services of their tenant farmers. The latter have been furnished with supplies since January 1st, on condition of remaining till the cotton crop is made and gathered. The effect of the Conway boat scheme would be to induce the negroes to violate their pledges. Conway is simply a promoter of public disturbance. Such men as he are no better than our Northern communistic agitators. He has duped already too many of our public men. His stories of thousands of colored men camped on the Mississippi awaiting some chance to get to Kansas are Munchausenisms. The yarns of an ex-carpet-bagger of shaky reputation are to be liberally discounted.

THE appropriation for revenue agents, storekeepers, gaugers and miscellaneous expenses of the internal revenue bureau for the current fiscal year will fall short nearly $15,000, and unless Congress passes a deficiency bill to meet the emergency, some thousands of storekeepers and gaugers will have to wait till next December or probably longer for their June pay. This appropriation is one over which the commissioner of internal revenue has practically no control. The law requires him to assign at least one storekeeper to every distillery and fixes the rate of pay. Congress appropriated for this service for the current year $100,000 less than the commissioner estimated to be absolutely necessary; and during the year nearly three hundred new distilleries have been established, involving a compulsory additional expenditure of nearly two thousand dollars a day. Hence has arisen the deficiency.

SHERMAN has written a letter to a prominent citizen of New Orleans, advising the young men of the South to keep out of politics. "You "have," he says, "as much business in "prospect as should engage the attention of men of moderate industry "without quarreling over politics, the "most senseless and profitless occupation ever assumed by men of brains." This advice is very good, not alone for the South but for the whole country. But while the General was busy with his pen why didn't he volunteer the information that "my brother, the "Secretary of the Treasury, who is casting sheep's-eyes on the Presidential "chair, will be happy to attend to all "your political work, and will furnish "a first-class, reliable lot of hungry, office-seeking politicians to run your "local governments, you paying the "expenses?"

HON. STANLEY MATTHEWS has taken unto himself a prophetic spirit, and, in looking forward as far as the Presidential convention of 1880, sees that Rutherford B. Hayes will be the most available candidate for the different wings and sections of the Republican party to unite upon. He admits that Mr. Hayes' definite statement that he is a one-term man will act against him, and that it will be a little difficult to bring him forward; but, at the same time, he (Matthews) feels confident that he possesses elements of strength which none of those mentioned as possible candidates can lay claim to. The President's recent course, he thinks, has completely charmed the hearts of the "Stalwarts."

THE promoters of the tide-level Panama canal project are working with commendable energy. Already a company has been formed, and subscriptions are invited to the amont of 400,000,000 francs to aid in the prosecution of the enterprise, the design being to depend largely on popular support. It is expected that work will begin on the 1st of January, 1880, and M. de Lesseps proposes to take out the first spadeful of earth. In however unfavorable a light the route selected may be regarded here, the promptness and determination displayed by the advocates of the Wyse plan call for admiration.

A RADICAL OPINION.

General Conway publishes a card in the New York Tribune asserting that Hayes' denial of the recent interview is false; that Hayes pledged him the support of the General Government in his proposed attempt to excite the Southern negroes to insurrection. The Rublican organs are beginning to see the absurdity of Hayes' proposition and Conway's scheme. The Radical Philadelphia North American, even, goes back on Conway thus:

If General Conway, of New Jersey, spends much more time in declaiming about what he intends to do in the way of helping the Southern exodus of blacks, by running a special steamer up the Mississippi for that purpose, there will be a reasonable suspicion that General Conway, of New Jersey, is largely endowed with a muscular development of chin. If General Conway, of New Jersey, expects to build his steamboat out of the contributions of the liberally disposed, as possibly he does, the waiting blacks may as well prepare for a protracted test of their enduring patience.

THE most remarkable fiction ever invented about the South must be credited to the New York Commercial Advertiser, which says that "nineteen out of every twenty of the baptized male children of the South, born of white parents, are named Jeff. Davis." Probably there is a larger proportion of colored children than white in the South who bear the name of Jefferson Davis. The colored people down here like a big name.

FOSTER'S statement to the Ohio stalwarts that he had been convinced of the failure of Hayes' Southern policy to accomplish its object, and that he and Hayes had practically repudiated it, is practically a confession that because it had failed to Republicanize the South, it had been abandoned. Some people had supposed that a higher and purer motive prompted Hayes' Southern policy.

A SPECIAL dispatch from Vicksburg, Mississippi, says: "The negro exodus has ceased entirely, and many are returning to their homes. The Cotton Planters Association promises to do much good, and already represents seventy thousand bales of cotton."

SECRETARY SHERMAN is reported as saying: "If let alone the silver question "would settle itself, like other troublesome questions." This is only another mode of saying that Mr. Sherman does not know what do about it.

BY reference to a letter from a clergyman to the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, it will be seen that there is a call for Senator Vance to deliver the oration at that city on the Fourth of July.

Senator Blaine's Substitute.

In a recent colloquy in the United States Senate between Senators Williams of Ky., Eaton, of Conn., and Blaine, of Me., the latter confessed that he had employed a substitute during the war, for whom, he said, he had "paid full price, more than the average Democrat was worth in the war," and he added that his substitute, being a Democrat, did not fight. This statement has elicited an inquiry into the matter which tends to show Mr. Blaine's substitute was paid for out of the funds of the Augusta (Me.) Loyal Mutual Alliance, an organization of persons who formed a pool to insure such of its members as might be drafted against the expense of procurring substitutes. Mr. Blaine, it seems, was a member of this association, and subscribed to its fund. Several years later the city of Augusta undertook to reimburse the subscribers to this fund, and did so in five per cent. twenty-year bonds. There also appears on the record of the city's contingent expenses for 1866 the following entry: "J. G. Blaine, for substitute, $200."

Have to Manufacture Enthusiasm.

Springfield Republican.

The Republicans in Maine are a good deal more scared than they were last year at this time, when the size of the greenback monster was not so definitely known as it is now. Their chief anguish at this moment is over the question who shall be their candidate for governor. Eugene Hale wants the nomination, but the people of Maine are coming to the opinion of [illegible] that has long been held by other folks. William W. Thomas, Jr., [illegible] Portland also hankers for the honor, but he isn't the giant [illegible] heeded in the crisis. William Wirt Virgin, a good lawyer and a judge of excellent record, is favorably mentioned. But the man most desired, now that Judge Peters declines, is Congressman Frye, and he seems unwilling to stand in the breach. If a man of his ability could be nominated, the Republicans would stand some chance of recovering the State, but they have got to manufacture a good deal of enthusiasm yet, and pick good leaders, to place themselves on a par with their greenback opponents.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Senator Don Cameron is said to be favorable to John Sherman's Presidential aspirations on the ground that "family ties and blood are thicker than water." If the story possesses the requisite thickness, this means fifty-eight votes in the convention for John. We would not, however, advise Mr. Sherman to calculate with syndicatical certainty upon the twenty-nine electoral votes which might under circumstances accompany this support. It has passed into a proverb that Pennsylvania never casts her vote in vain.—Washington Post.

It is the custom of Republican newspapers to declare that "this session of Congress is making Republican votes by the thousand every day." But in face of this declaration those journals keep up a loud and incessant howl for an "immediate adjournment." This shows to what heights patriotism can attain. In order to save the trifling expense of continuing the extra session, the organization are not only willing but anxious to stop the machinery that is "making thousands of Republican votes every day".—Washington Post.

The Republicans of Ohio have got to put in some solid work between now and election to carry that State. The Democrats have nominated Ewing for Governor, and what with the votes he will gain from the Greenback element, and the dissatisfaction of Taft's friends over the nomination of Foster, they will have their hands full to keep the party vote.—Iowa State Register (Rep.).

It is wrong to resort to the "rider," and every President ought to veto any measure sent to him combined with another which he does not approve. Therefore Mr. Hayes is right, but those who shout revolution and nonsense like that, are only maintained in the North because the South allowed this questionable course to be adopted.—Vicksburg Herald.

VEST POCKET CURE
25 DYSPEPSIA 25
CLERGY & DOCTORS
TESTE.

Rev Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C.
I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dick'nson, (Bap.)
It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific, The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent —Editors Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.
Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, L. L.
Col., Va.
It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf.
About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years, I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.
I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew For protration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable

J D Eggleston, M D, Va
It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion, I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate.
This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Oatmeal FOR Dyspepsia.

In the last five years the consumption of Oatmeal in this country has probably increased twenty-fold. People differ so much in their likes and dislikes that we do not insist on anybody eating oatmeal because somebody else does, but the great growth of its popularity as an anti-dyspeptic is beyond doubt. Generally the Irish and Scotch Meals are considered best, but they sell comparatively high, and persons who have used both say that the Canadian and American Meals are just as good; these latter retail for 6¼c. per lb. against 15c. for former.

Oatmeal should be well cooked. As it is usually made it may be soaked over night and then boiled like mush for, say half an hour. No doubt it is most wholesome eaten plain, but the temptation to use various dressings—generally sugar or cream—is too strong for any but very firm seekers, but where these are taken it should be as the Friends say, in "moderation."

A BREAKFAST DISH,

The Picnic Victim.

Under the shell-bark hickory tree
The picnic man he stands;
A woful looking man is he,
With bruised and grimy hands;
And the soil that sticks to his trousers knee,
Is the soil of several lands.

His hair is tumbled, his hat is torn,
His clothes are like the ground;
He wishes he had ne'er been born,
Or born, had ne'er been found,
He glares and scowls in wrathful scorn
As oft he looks around.

At early morn all dressed in white,
He sought the picnic park;
His face was clean, his heart was light,
His loud song mocked the lark:
But now, although the day is bright,
His world, alas! is dark.

In joyous mood, at early morn,
He sat upon the stump;
But soon, as though upon a thorn
He sat, with mighty jump,
He leaped aloft, and all forlorn,
In haste he did crump.

For lo, in hordes the big black ants,
With nippers long and slim,
Went swiftly crawling up his pants,
And made it warm for him;
And through the woods they make him dance,
With gasp, and groan, and vim.

And when the rustic feast is spread,
And she is sitting by,
His wildwood garland on her head,
The love-light in her eye,
He—woe, oh, woe! would he were dead!—
Sits in the custard pie.

And now they send him up the tree
To fix the picnic swing,
And up the shell-bark's scraggy side,
They laugh to see him cling;
They cannot hear the words he cried,
"Dat fetch! dog gone! dat bing!"

And now he wisheth he were down,
And yet he cannot see,
Just how the giggle, stare and frown
Escaped by him may be;
He knows he cannot scramble down
With his back against the three.

Sobbing, and sidling, and wailing,
Homeward alone he goes;
Clay, pie, and grass-stain on his clothes,
More and more plainly shows;
And he vows that to any more picnics
He never will go, he knows.

HEPATINE.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

WEEKS & POTTER.—Cuticura.
JOHN F. HENRY.—Carbolic Salve.
MRS. MARY J. JONES.—Mt. Vernon Institute.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Pinafore Friday.

——Ice in Blake's cellar.

——Revenue receipts yesterday were $3,305.01⅜.

——The Buffalo Bill Combination Troupe are heading this way and have written to engage Tucker Hall one night not far distant.

——Drummers' licenses were issued to Buck, Heflebower & Neer, Baltimore, Md., and W. S. Donnan, Son & Co., Richmond, Va., yesterday.

——The ladies of Edenton street M. E. Church are requested to meet at the church this (Thursday(evening at 5 o'clock. It is earnestly desired that all attend.

——The crew of "H. M. S. Pinafore" were on the high Cs yesterday afternoon at rehearsal, while the "sisters, and the cousins, and the aunts" were in their "best bib and Tucker."

——David C. Smith and Miss Sallie Turner, both of St. Mary's township, this county, were married yesterday by Justice R. W. Best at the Register's office, this being his first effort in this line of business. And he didn't even sign a recommendation for mercy.

——His Honor Mayor Manly will pay attention to the guard-house cadets—made and provided there are any—at his office this morning. His presence on the street yesterday relieved all fears of a protracted illness, and friends were pleased to see him again.

——The New Berne papers are scolding about cattle running loose in the streets. Strange that a little matter like that should so upset their equanimity. Raleigh people have got so used to it that they don't say a word even when cattle take a little stroll through the Capitol.

——And this is the way that the gentle hint was administered in an allopathic dose: He came in and asked for a chew of tobacco. It was handed out, and as he bit off about a half a plug he asked: "Whose tobacco is this?" "Lorillard's; and by the way it goes it must be Parole!"

——There will be a concert and exhibition by the Colored Graded School tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock, at Metropolitan Hall, the Mayor having tendered the school the use of the hall. An admission fee of ten cents for adults and five cents for children will be charged.

——This kind of weather scarcely calls for a very extensive use of coal for family use, yet it is good policy to lay in a winter's supply in the summer when the article is cheap and plenty. Messrs. Jones, Green & Powell have received a large quantity which they will dispose of at $6.50 a ton. As it is expected coal will take another step upward on the 1st of July, why—a word to the wise is sufficient.

——When Mark Twain first launched out as a "local" he always fell back on the hay market when items were scarce —and this was a daily occurrence. We haven't any hay market to depend on, so we will whack away at the sidewalks, especially those on Wilmington street, and say that such poor apologies for walks were never before allowed to remain in one of the principal streets in a city the size of Raleigh. The authorities ought to sell those walks at auction and purchase some cheap second-hand ones.

Pinafore Libretto.

To really enjoy an opera you must have a libretto of the play. Alfred Williams & Co. have the libretto of Pinafore on sale, price ten cents per copy. All who expect to attend the performance on Friday evening should secure the libretto at once, as only a limited number was ordered.

Raleigh Light Artillery.

There will be a meeting of the Company this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Mayor's office. Every member is earnestly requested to be present in full uniform.

By order of the Captain.
C. A. SEPARK, O. S.

The North Carolina Press Convention.

At the earnest request of the proprietor of the Atlantic Hotel at Beaufort, who is to entertain the members, the time for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Press Association is changed from the 16th of July to Wednesday, the second day of July.

The press of the State will please make a note of the change.

Personal.

General M. W. Ransom is at the Yarboro.

Mr. G. W. Bryan, the clever telegraph operator at Halifax, passed through the city en route for Wake Forest.

Hon. David A. Barnes and Hon. Jesse J. Yeates, of Murfreesboro, have rooms at the Yarborough.

Mr. R. H. Pender, a prominent merchant of Tarboro, and Fred. Phillips a prominent merchant of the same town, are at the Yarboro House.

M. D. W. Stevenson, of New Berne, C. A. Cook, of Warrenton, are in town attending the Supreme Court. They are stopping at the Yarboro.

Pinafore Notes.

He looked up very humbly, and said he was sorry to be found in such a place but he could assure the court that he was never in the prisoner's box before. "Never?" asked the court with some severity. "Look-a-here, judge," said the culprit, "name the fine, but for heaven's sake don't spring that 'Pinafore' gag on a fellow."

"Pinafore" doctors now cure a merry, merry cough with the hoarhound and the tar.

There is talk of starting a Hardly Ever Temperance club in the lower part of the city.

Bankruptcy Decision--District Court.

In the matter of the Bank of North Carolina, bankrupt; at chambers in Raleigh, N. C., before Hon. George W. Brooks, District Judge, June 9th, 1879.

Motion by assignee to expunge from the records an order of sale in this cause, made September 12th, 1877, by the Register (under which certain judgments in favor of the bankrupt estate were sold on the 12th day of November, 1877), on the grounds alleged that the Register had no power to make such order under the act, or the rules and general orders in bankruptcy.

After exhaustive argument by Messrs. Merrimon and Fuller, in behalf of the motion, and by A. W. Tourgee, R. H. Battle and Honorable E. G. Reade, opposed: Held, That it was within the power of the Register to make such order upon the application of the assignee, there being no opposing interest, and the motion to expunge was denied.

List of Medical Graduates.

Ran Against a Snag.

Quite an interesting race occurred at Penny's pond yesterday evening. Mr. Hicks was quite successful for a short distance, but spoilt all the fun when he accidently ran the boat on a snag—exit Hicks in ten foot of water. He was indeed in a critical condition, but other boats came to the rescue, and after much trouble he was hauled in. P.

No hotels in the world can equal the leading ones in the United States. To this flattering reputation the "St. Nicholas" of New York has largely contributed by its palatial elegance and superior skill of cuisine. The proprietor is known far and wide for his knowledge and experience of the public taste. Result, a house which unites the proudest traditions of the past with the most fastidious attention to the demands of the present.

War and Gold—A hotel war based on gold prices. In order to accommodate both classes of travelers, the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, is now kept upon both plans, the American at $2.50 to $3.00, and the European at $1.00, and upward, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Hotel.

The Way Vanderbilt Succeeded.

When Commodore Vanderbilt was running steamboats, he beat all rivals by crowding on steam to the utmost, and even running down his enemy if necessary, to accomplish a triumph. When he went into railroading, he adopted a much shrewder and more successful way, by uniting vast lines and their tributaries under his own management, thus capturing all rivals, by sharing with them the immense pool of profits that were made by his skillful manipulation. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., accomplish a much greater success in stock operations by their new Combiation Method of dealing. By this system the orders of thousands of customers are pooled into one vast sum and co-operated under the most experienced management, thus giving to each share holder all the benefits of large capital and best skill. Profits divided monthly. Any amount from $5 to $25,000 can be used with great success, $15 will make $75 profit. $80 would return $750 or 9 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market. The new circular (mailed free) has "two unerring rules for success" and full explanations, so that any one can operate profitably. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

Ocean View Hotel, Osborn & Pool Proprietor, Beaufort, N. C.

This house is now open for the reception of summer visitors. A good bar, bathing houses, etc., are attached to the house. Sailing boats in attendance for the accomodation of guests. A steamer will also land passengers at the hotel wharf, and take excursion parties to any point on the harbor. The table will be supplied with the best the market and water afford. Terms of board $1.50 per day, $10 per week; $30 per month. We will not "blow our own horn;" but will be pleased to have others do so for us. Goldsboro Mail, Messenger, Winston journals, Tarboro Southerner and Durham Plant copy one month.

An Unfailing Evidence of Good Taste.

The judicious use of some delicate perfume is an unfailing evidence of good taste. The most polished of all lands class sweet scents among their most important luxuries. Dr. Price's Meadow Flowers, Pet Rose, etc., are the gems of all odors.

Would an Irredeemable Currency be as good as gold? While there is a very large class of intelligent citizens who believe it would, we regard it our duty to all alike to say that as a cure for old sores, cuts, bruises, jams and slashes, there is nothing like Carbolic Salve. Beware of counterfeits.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. —The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, ESQ., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,
WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worried out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint is the direct cause of seventy-five per cent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

Too Much at Stake.

Steele & Price have too much at stake to put in the market anything which has not been found not only harmless, but positively beneficial. Their Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only kind made by a practical physician, with special regard to its healthfulness. 2t.

Cuticura

Blood and Skin Humors

Speedily, Permanently and Economically Cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other known Medicines and methods of treatment fail.

Scrofulous Ulcers and Sores, Abscesses, Milk Leg, Fever Sores, Erysipelas Sores, Old Sores and Discharging Wounds, Boils, Carbuncles and Blood Impurities, which manifest themselves by bursting through the skin and eating deep into the flesh, when treated internally by the Cuticura Resolvent and externally with the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, rapidly heal and disappear. Salt Rheum or Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Leprosy, Barber's Itch and all Scaly and Itching Eruptions of the skin; Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Irritating and Itching Humors of the scalp, which cause the Hair to become dry, thin and lifeless, and result in Premature Baldness, are permanently cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SKIN DISEASE.

A Remarkable Letter from J. A. Tucker, Esq., Manufacturer of the Bay State Superphosphate.

Messrs WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I think I have paid for medicines and medical treatment during the last twenty years all of three thousand dollars, without receiving any permanent relief.

Last May while taking a Turkish bath at 17 Beacon street, a young man employed there by the name of Wm. Corbett induced me to allow him to apply a preparation that he had upon me, assuring me that it was perfectly harmless, and for a certain consideration he would cure me within thirty days from the time he commenced. In case he failed to do so I was to pay him nothing. I consented and he applied it nearly every day for five weeks, when the disease entirely disappeared. I very cheerfully paid him the amount agreed upon, and then asked him what this remedy was, and he replied that it was no other than CUTICURA.

Since that time I have had no trouble from this disease, and have not had such good health in twenty years as I have had during the last six months.

I have since my recovery bought Cuticura and given it to friends suffering with skin diseases, and in every instance it has cured them. I believe it to be the greatest discovery of the present century.

J. A. TUCKER.

13 Doane St., Boston, Dec. 20, 1878.

NOTE.—Mr. Tucker is a well known citizen and has served the city in many important capacities. He is at present a member of the Board of Aldermen He is also well known to agriculturists and farmers as the manufacturer of the celebrated Bay State Superphosphate.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Have done for me what hundreds of dollars spent on other remedies have failed to do and I do not hesitate to recommend them as first-class articles.

Yours truly, MARK BRANNAN.
Carbondale, Pa., Dec. 20, 1878.

Skin and Scalp Diseases should be treated externally with Cuticura, assisted by the Cuticura Soap, and Resolvent taken internally, until cured and for some time afterward. Where the Humors are confined to the Blood and do not show themselves on the surface, the Resolvent alone will speedily drive them from the system. The Cuticura Remedies infallibly cure the most loathsome cases of Scrofulous and Skin and Scalp Humors, as is attested by hundreds of unsolicited testimonials in our possession.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cts.
